Workplace Safety & Health Innovation Awards

INTRODUCTION

The Workplace Safety & Health Innovation and Practices Award is an annual award presented by the Workplace Safety and Health Council (WSHC), in collaboration with the Ministry of Manpower (MOM), to give recognition to companies for their commitment and efforts in eliminating or controlling workplace safety and health (WSH) hazards as well as innovative solutions which improve safety and health outcomes.

Award winners will share their WSH practices and control solutions in our efforts to promote WSH excellence in all workplaces.

Workplace Safety & Health Innovation Awards

CRITERIA

- WSH solutions and practices for hazards such as chemicals, noise, work at height, ergonomics, etc.
 - Applicants must submit effective Risk Control Measures which do not create or lead to new risks that are not well managed.
 - Applicants who can show a solution that eliminate the risks and can potentially be translated industry-wide will gain more points.
- Project led by teams comprising employees.
- Creativity and innovativeness of the control solutions.
- Eliminate or effectively control the hazard and / or significantly reduce the risk.
- Should not infringe any copyright and / or patent law.

Workplace Safety & Health Innovation Awards

Applicants will be considered for the award only if:

- The control solution have been implemented for at least six months. No reportable solution-related accident/incident in the workplace following implementation of the control solution.
- No stop work order, remedial order, composition fine or prosecution for control solution related contraventions in the preceding one year at the time of application.
- Control solutions may be in the form of engineering measures or implementation of safety systems that eliminate or effectively control the hazard and/or significantly reduce the risk.
